Khemit Korner— Is Egypt Safe?

The first month of 2013 brought many happy moments for us.

After enjoying a few weeks spent with Willie Van Gils, on and off the sites, Yousef and I embarked on another Wisdom Tour of Egypt with a wonderful group of friends from Australia.

We always enjoy our time spent with Mohamed Ramadan, a very close friend of Hakim’s at Philae in Aswan. He and his friends played music for us while we clapped and danced.

We were extremely happy for the opportunity to visit the interior of the very ancient Osireion at Abydos, when we found it empty of standing water for the first time!

In early January we went to the Fayuum Oasis with Willie to visit Wadi-Al-Hitan or the Valley of the Whales, where you can still see the remains of whales and other marine life that are millions of years old.

We also went to the city of ancient Karanis and “Qarun's Palace”, a temple with many secret chambers, shafts and tunnels, and with many similarities to Dendera.

January is always a wonderful time of year to travel in Egypt.
The weather may be chilly at night, but, the days are usually beautiful and the sites are rarely crowded!

We were joined by many orbs, after everyone had their opportunity to lie in the resonance box in the King's Chamber of the Great Pyramid while the group toned.

Although the water was cold, Roz and JonRa couldn't resist their chance to swim in the Nile!
Our boat pulled up onto the warm sands of a beach in Aswan—where they both jumped right in!

Each group we work with is treated to different and unique experiences. This group of lovely people gained access to the Hathor Temple at Memphis and many normally closed doors were opened to us at several of the Temples.

We “faced our fears” and draped cobras around our necks at the Temples of Sobek and Horus at Kom Ombo, where initiates had done the same thing thousands of years ago by diving into wells filled with crocodiles.

The Khemit School of Ancient Mysticism will be featuring many more journeys and adventures this year!

Stay tuned or write to Patricia at morganna36@aol.com for more information on special journeys that we have planned for (dates subject to change):

Some comments from some of our recent guests:

JonRa

Many THANK You's !! Patrica, Yousef and our faithful guide Mohamed for a journey of a lifetime, reacquainting me and the group with the Ancient and Sacred Black Land of Khem, the past few weeks. The trip was excellent value for money, and was above and beyond expectation! With a perfect balance of broadly researched and intuitive experiential information offered, comfortable and safe travel, fabulous food, and a flexible intuitive timetable.

One thing that I will never forget, is the safe and comforting feeling travelling into many temple sites, seeing the faces of the guards of the sites 'light up' upon them seeing the familiar faces of our 3 local tour leaders... even in places afar. Travelling with these 3 'locals' with their 'fingers on the pulse', allowed for unexpected entries to special normally unseen places (including this one in Memphis), ability to photograph special things in places where this is not permitted, as well as meditation/ toning in places not normally allowed !

Being quite an independent traveler and not normally one to go for 'group tours', the format of the tour worked perfectly for me also, allowing me to drift off into various 'felt' places and creative streams.

I would highly recommend this tour to anyone on whatever level they are on. Great stuff !

Miriam

Thanks Patricia & Yousef & Mohamed, for a very safe, enjoyable and adventurous journey through Giza, Luxor & Aswan, mid January to early February, It was very heartfelt and I was overwhelmed by your generosity and hospitality as well as your exclusive ancient knowledge of the sites. I was in very safe and knowledgeable hands, & felt it was a great advantage traveling with people who were local and very experienced. I would therefore highly recommend anyone wishing to do a journey through Egypt to you and have no hesitation to send people to you in the future. Still integrating all of the powerful experiences.

Layal

Yousef was the generous host, with the heart to fit the Universe. He was always there when you needed him as a teacher, brother, and friend. For him, as all of you, it wasn't just a business. He was in it, he was there.

*When Patricia was tired or sick, I felt a huge part was missing, like the heart of the group, the Mother. I loved her insights into everything. I loved how she would intuitively Know: when what and where.
She talked to me, talked to my awareness and that is rare to happen.*

I'm grateful that Gary told me about this tour, I'm grateful that he allowed me to discover my connection to the Universe through toning. When toning I was one with all and talked to all. My senses were heightened and still are.

*I can feel his (Mohamed's) heart, his dedication and generosity are all anyone would want in a tour guide.
I loved his attentiveness to all our needs. He was the one to glue it all together.*

Thank you Patricia and Yousef and Mohammad ad Gary for allowing me and letting me allow myself to be immersed in a Magical experience out of any dimension.

Mohammed

It (the tour) went beyond my expectations! It was a wonderful experience and I really loved every part of it. Can't wait to come onto more of your journeys.

Yousef was amazing and full of ancient knowledge that he shared with us. His generosity overwhelmed us all.

Patricia really helped to understand the spiritual side of things and explained many of the things I felt and saw in different sites.

*Mohammed was a great guide in that he gave us all the information on the sites that we needed to educate ourselves.
His open mindedness to the subject of Ancient Egypt was very fascinating.*

“Techno-Spiritual” Adventure – April 15th – 28th 2013

Advanced Technologies & Consciousness of the Ancients Journey

Christopher Dunn has an extensive background as a craftsman, starting his career as an indentured apprentice in his hometown of Manchester, England. Recruited by an aerospace manufacturing company, he immigrated to the United States in 1969. Over the past 51 years, Chris has worked at every level of high-tech manufacturing from machinist, toolmaker, programmer and operator of high-power industrial lasers, Project Engineer and Laser Operations Manager. For the past 18 years, he has served as Human Resource Director for a Midwest aerospace manufacturer.

Chris's pyramid odyssey began in 1977 after he read Peter Tompkins' book, Secrets of the Great Pyramid. His immediate reaction after learning of the Great Pyramid's precision and design characteristics was to consider that this edifice may have had an original purpose that differed from conventional opinion. After further research and study of source material on various theories, Chris concluded that it must have originally been built to provide a highly technical society with energy—in short, it was a very large machine. Discovering the purpose of this machine and documenting his case has taken the better part of twenty years of research and following the 1998 publication of Chris's book, “The Giza Power Plant: Technologies of Ancient Egypt” in which he describes a holistic energy device that is harmonically coupled with the Earth and its inhabitants.

Please visit his website for more information <http://www.gizapower.com/>

Chris Dunn's second book, “Lost Technologies of Ancient Egypt: Advanced Engineering in the Temples of the Pharaohs” is a unique study of the engineering and tools used to create Egyptian monuments that:

- Presents a stone-by-stone analysis of key Egyptian monuments, including the statues of Ramses II and the tunnels of the Serapeum
- Reveals that highly refined tools and mega-machines were used in ancient Egypt

Chris will be joined by Speakers:

Stephen Mehler

Alternative Egyptologist, Author and longtime friend and student of Abd'el Hakim Awyan

Stephen Mehler's fascination with ancient Egypt, which began at the age of eight, has guided his education and spiritual work all his life. Mehler holds three degrees in the sciences and is a trained field archaeologist and prehistorian. Mehler also served as a Staff research scientist for the Rosicrucian Order, AMORC, in San Jose, California from 1978-1980.

For almost 16 years, 1992-2008, Mehler was a student, disciple, and close friend of Egyptian-born Egyptologist and indigenous wisdom keeper, Abd'El Hakim Awyan (1926-2008), popularly known as Hakim. Stephen has written two books, The Land of Osiris (Adventures Unlimited Press, 2001) and From Light Into Darkness: The Evolution Of Religion In Ancient Egypt (Adventures Unlimited Press, 2005), based on his work and collaboration with Hakim and Stephen's over 40 years of research in the area. Stephen is currently Director of Research of his own Land Of Osiris Research Project. He also leads tours to Egypt and is working on a third book based on his work with Hakim.

Mehler has researched the phenomenon of crystal skulls since 1979, especially those known as ancient crystal skulls. Stephen was able to work with Dr. Marcel Vogel and F.R. 'Nick' Nocerino and has written a book on the subject with David Hatcher Childress, The Crystal Skulls: Astonishing Portals To Man's Past (Adventures Unlimited Press, 2008).

Brien Foerster Author, Explorer and Expert on the Mysteries of Ancient Peru

Brien was born in Rochester, Minnesota, U.S.A. but grew up on the west coast of Canada. At age 11, he became fascinated with the Native art of the Haida native people, and began carving totem poles, and other related art forms, learning from Native teachers. After completing an Honours Bachelor Of Science degree, Brien decided to take up carving and sculpture full time, at the age of 25.

After spending 2 years working as a Project Manger on an ancient sail boat project, in Maui, Hawaii, his interest turned toward Peru.

The study of the Inca culture led to his writing his first book, A Brief History Of The Incas. Brien is also actively engaged with native Shipibo people from the Central Amazon of Peru, promoting the sale of their traditional arts and crafts. He written a total of 9 books, including: Machu Picchu – Virtual Guide & Secrets Revealed, Inca Footprints, Inca: Before The Conquest, and Enigma Of Tiwanaku And Puma Punku.

He also writes articles for Graham Hancock: www.grahamhancock.com, and is associated with Lloyd Pye of the Starchild project, who is analyzing the DNA of elongated human skulls of the Peruvian Paracas culture on his behalf. The preliminary results of this have been included in the recently published book that Brien co-authored with David Hatcher Childress, The Enigma Of Cranial Deformation: Elongated Skulls Of The Ancients.

Gary Evans Owner and Manager of “Infinite Connections”, Speaker and Facilitator of Meditation and “Resonant” Toning at Sacred Sites.

Gary has been studying Earth mysteries for a number of years. From his studies of ancient cultures around the World, Gary has realized how deeply our ancestors appreciated Nature; something many of us have become disconnected from in the modern age. His keen interest in an unfamiliar chapter of pre-history, before Sumeria (3500BCE), has led to the website <http://www.AtlantisEvidence.com> and various lectures around the UK and Egypt. He is a regular contributor to international radio shows.

In addition to his own research, Gary actively helps to promote greater awareness of ancient mysteries to the wider public. He is the PR agent for a number of best selling alternative authors. Gary's work as agent in the alternative arena has given him the opportunity to speak to authors, radio show hosts and TV producers around the world and discuss his passions and theories with them. Gary has recently been working with producers for the History Channel, and as a consultant for a large number of magazine editors, TV and radio show hosts. He also uses his PR skills in the promotion of conferences such as CPAK, Awake and Aware in the USA and Megalithomania and, following the end of the Stars and Stones forum, the Eternal Knowledge Festival, in the UK. When not working on conferences he is organizing and running tours to Egypt, Peru, Bolivia, Stonehenge and other sacred sites.

Egypt Roundtable - Hour 1 - Ancient Technologies & Khemitology

January 24, 2013

This roundtable discussion features Egypt experts Stephen Mehler (archaeologist and prehistorian), Chris Dunn (craftsman and engineer), Patricia (artist) and Yousef Awyan (stone mason), Gary Evans (Infinite Connections) and Brien Foerster (Peruvian expert and sculptor) all of which will be guiding a unique 2 week tour of Egypt. In the first hour, we'll discuss ancient Egypt and the highly advanced civilization that was there before writing. This advanced civilization had knowledge of science based on harmony. We'll discuss their form of technologies. In the second hour, Stephen Mehler continues on Khemitology and why these researchers are redefining the field as Khemitology, not Egyptology. He expands on the philosophies of life driven by cycles and explains the stages of consciousness as the ancients understood. We'll speak more about the "spiritual machines" built at the high point in a cycle.

The group expands on the spiritual aspects of the ancients. Yousef tells us about the power of sound resonance and how each site holds a specific vibration for a specific function. Later, we continue on the power of interdimensional sites as a way to open us up to "neter," an aspect of God. At the end, the group shares details about their upcoming Egyptian

A question from someone inquiring about travel to Egypt- Is Egypt Safe for Travelers?

“I feel called to come to Egypt, but, my family and friends are afraid that it’s too dangerous. Is it safe to come now or should I wait...?”

Although I have addressed this many times in the past, I am still asked this or similar questions weekly. I feel confident of my reply, as someone who has lived here for over four years with a family who has lived here all their lives.

I will give you my honest opinion on safety here. Yes—sadly, there is much conflict in the political arena, however, this has not affected our day to day routines here--and it doesn't endanger tourists traveling here either. The Egyptian people are upset--and have a right to be. Nothing is changing for the better after two years. Games are being played--and much of the violence you see portrayed by media is contrived and capitalized on.

We experienced this for ourselves when we went to the Egyptian Museum, which is located in Tahrir Square, one day last fall.

It was two days after the news reports of Egyptians taking down the American flag, with supposed violence at our American Embassy--after the incredibly distasteful anti-Islamic movie was released on YouTube last fall. Most news programs were showing pictures of the bombing in Libya--when they spoke about the situation in Egypt. We drove right past the embassy and nothing was happening. After we came out of the museum--our driver told us that one of the International News channels was paying Egyptians to throw Molotov cocktails in the area around the American Embassy—while they filmed them. We actually watched a few, and they were aimed at nothing. (Keep in mind that they always shut down the Square and the museum if there is a huge protest or they expect trouble). That evening they reported that there was violent activity during the day in Tahrir. This was not what we experienced! This was all later confirmed by the Egyptian government.

This manipulation of truth and instigation of violent events happens time after time. The drastic drop in tourism only serves to keep the Egyptian people in survival mode and more controllable, as almost all Egyptians depend on tourism, either directly or indirectly.

In actuality--there is almost no major crime on the streets here in Egypt--especially when compared to Western countries. I feel safer here--at any time of day or night--(and I often go out on my own at night--even to walk in the village)--then in most cities and towns in America.

Egyptians love foreigners and are compassionate people who love to tease and get to know us better! They separate politics and government--from people to people interactions.

Most importantly, daily life in Egypt, since Mubarak stepped down, has mostly been "business as usual" away from the isolated areas of protest. We have hosted or worked on 8-9 tours this past year or so--and none of them were affected negatively in any way. In fact everyone is always amazed at the stark contrast between the truth of what it's like here--and the news “programming” they experience at home.

Only once did we have to cancel a trip to the museum due to protesting in Tahrir Square--and we scheduled a special trip in its stead to an area normally closed to the public. Our group was thrilled and not the least bit upset.

Egypt will call you “home” when the time is right for you. If you feel that that time is now, I would suggest that you seriously consider it. Talk to people who have been to Egypt at some point during the last two years.

With tourism down, we are able to explore and experience many of the sites almost entirely to ourselves, which is priceless. Many doors that have been closed to the public for decades at the sites have been opened for brief visits. This is not likely to last forever—and I hope it ends soon, for the sake of the people of Egypt!

I would also encourage everyone to support the efforts of the Egyptian people. This is a pivotal time on the planet, when we all can choose to stand up and reclaim our basic rights and personal power. We cannot allow ourselves to be “separated” any longer by political rhetoric and manipulation of our truths—but, need to be united in this endeavor.
